

Creating Impressionistic Watercolors

Ryan Fox

May 20—22, 9:30—4:00 each day

Crossroads Art Center

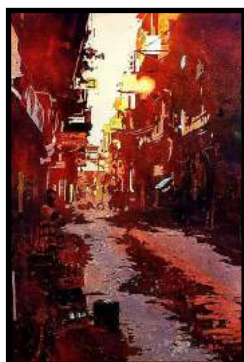

Learn the technique of pouring diluted watercolor directly on paper. Pouring creates a wide range of colors and creates amazing blending effects. We'll approach each painting with an emphasis on value, design and planning.

You will also learn to use the mouth atomizer which is used to spray watercolor paint, ink or other liquids evenly over a surface to add an impressionistic feeling to your paintings.

Through instructor demonstrations, you'll learn about masking, wetting techniques, using gravity to mix your limited palette, and preserving the transparency of your layers. You'll choose your own subject matter: still life, landscape, architectural, floral, or portrait.

AFTER INSTRUCTOR DISCUSSION ABOUT VALUE AND COLOR CHOICES, STUDENTS WILL EMBARK ON THEIR OWN ARTISTIC JOURNEY.

STUDENTS ARE WELCOME TO BRING THEIR OWN REFERENCE MATERIAL OR CAN COPY THE INSTRUCTOR'S PAINTING OR REFERENCE MATERIAL.

RYAN IS AN INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNIZED WATERCOLOR ARTIST AND WORKSHOP TEACHER AND HIS PAINTINGS HAVE WON MANY AWARDS THROUGHOUT THE US AND THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY. HIS TEACHING STYLE IS VERY INFORMATIVE, COMPREHENSIVE AND HE PROVIDES A LOT OF INDIVIDUAL ATTENTION. YOU WILL LEAVE THIS WORKSHOP WITH ONE OR MORE COMPLETED WORKS OF ART READY FOR FRAMING.
